San Xavier

San Xavier Mission, The White Dove of the Desert, is acclaimed by many to be the finest example of mission architecture in the United States. It is a graceful blend of Moorish, Byzantine and late Mexican Renaissance architecture, yet the blending is so complete it is hard to tell where one type begins and another ends. The present church was built from 1783 - 1797 by the Franciscan Fathers Juan Bautista Velderrain and Juan Bautista Llorenz.

FRIDAY

8:00 a.m.-2:00 p.m.

Tour of Tucson area and Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum

The bus tour begins with breakfast at the Copper Room in Reid Park. Breakfast will be followed by a tour of Tucson area. The tour will include a drive through Tucson, including the University of Arizona area, the 4th Avenue business district, downtown Tucson, and south to the San Xavier del Bac Mission (see article at left). The tour will end at the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum where there will be plenty of time to tour and experience South Tucson is a mile-square community just south of downtown Tucson and is completely surrounded by the City of Tucson. Of its population of about 5,500, 83% are Mexican-American and 10% are Native American. South Tucson's ethnic character is evident in its widely known Mexican restaurants and its architectural styles, including colorful outdoor murals celebrating its ethnic heritage.

Desert Tour & Barbecue

Great fun for Kids of All Ages. See and experience the desert in all its glory. We will ride through the desert in jeeps with experienced guides. We will see the sights and hear the sounds of the desert and watch the sun set. This tour will end with a barbecue in the desert and we will be able to see the stars in the dark clear sky. We will be accompanied by an astronomer. As in all outdoor activities in the Southwest Desert, you will want to have plenty of sunscreen or a lightweight long-sleeve shirt, a sun hat, sunglasses, good outdoor shoes and a jacket for the evening when it will cool down. You will definitely want to bring your camera.

SUNDAY

9:30-11:30 a.m.

Services at Grace Lutheran Church

A Cody Family tradition at our reunions is to worship together on Sunday morning. This year the Rauh family, co-chairs of the Tucson reunion, have invited us to their church for worship services. The service begins at 10 a.m. at Grace Lutheran Church, 830 North First Avenue - about 4 miles west of the hotel. Car pools or other transportation will be arranged for those that wish to join the family in church.

12:00 Noon

Picnic and Family business meeting

at Reid Park

Reid Park is a large and beautiful park with many activities. We will meet for a picnic lunch and brief business meeting. This is the traditional close of the International Cody Family Association Reunion.

Maps will be available to get to the church and the picnic area.

3:00 p.m.

Adjourn

At the business meeting, we will choose a location for the 2012 reunion. Would you and your local family enjoy hosting the next reunion?

Airport Pick-up

Airport pick-up and drop-off services have been arranged for reunion attendees. The cost is $12 round-trip. To use this service, you must make reservations in advance. You may reserve places by contacting Gerald Cody by phone at (520) 260-7572 or by email at gcody1@cox.net or through the Lodge on the Desert. Have your airline, flight number and time of arrival on hand when you call to make your reservations.

Hi Jinks Tour Option

The Hi Jinks Tour is an optional activity. If you choose to participate it will make your Saturday a very busy and very active day. You will depart at 7 in the morning and travel to the area of Oracle AZ where the Hi Jinks mine and other interesting sights are located. Once there, the terrain that you will travel will be rough and some strenuous walking will be involved. You will return about 1 p.m. with a couple of hours to rest and freshen up before embarking on the afternoon/evening desert tour and desert BBQ. That said, the Hi Jinks tour is a fine experience for those with the fortitude to undertake it. Buffalo Bill was a partial owner of the Hi Jinks mine and spent time in Oracle. It is an interesting area offering much to see and learn about the geology and mineralogy of the area and the history of the extensive mining operations for gold and other minerals in the area. It represents a powerful example of the struggle to succeed in the Old West of Southern Arizona.

WELCOME TO TUCSON

Where Is It and What Can I Do There?

By Dorothy Rauh, Co-Chair Tucson 2010 Reunion.

Tucson, Arizona is located just 65 miles north of the Mexican border, and indeed, until 1853 was part of Mexico. It is no wonder then that Tucson has been greatly influenced by Spanish/Mexican culture. Add to that the other factors, the 5 C's: Cattle raising, Cotton farming, Copper mining, hundreds of kinds of Cactus, and its fabulous Climate. Tucson is a great place to visit, so we hope you will do so for the International Cody Family Association biennial convention.

Our fun begins on Thursday, April 22, 2010, at the Lodge on the Desert, a beautiful historic hotel which used to be in the desert, but now sits almost mid-town. Registration will formally be from 4 p.m. to 7 p.m. There is no dinner scheduled for that night, but snacks and appetizers will be available in our hospitality room. There is a restaurant on site and many other restaurants and fast food places are within a mile of the hotel.

Friday morning begins with boarding a bus at the hotel and going for a short ride to the Copper Room at Reid Park for a breakfast buffet. After that we'll again board the bus and travel through town and south to the famous Mission San Xavier del Bac. This mission was founded by Father Eusebio Kino in 1694. The beautiful church was not finished until a hundred years later.

Our next visit will be west of Tucson at the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum. The Desert Museum is listed as a "living museum" because of the number of live plant and animal exhibits. We will have lunch at the Ironwood Terrace Cafe at the museum. You will have plenty of time to visit in the museum before boarding the bus for the return trip to the hotel. Some rest and relaxing comes next so that you will be ready for the Mexican Fiesta Buffet at 7 p.m.

Saturday morning can be either free time for you to sleep, shop, or visit the nearby award-winning zoo. Or you may choose to join a group who will travel north of town to explore the area of the Hi Jinks mine, historically owned by William Cody. This will involve some rough walking.

Saturday afternoon brings a real treat as we will journey from the Lodge to east of town for a Jeep tour into the Rincon Mountain foothills. Our guide will point out unusual flora and fauna as we drive through the area. We will stop at a place where we can look down into the Tucson valley. We will enjoy a great outdoor barbeque for our evening meal.

Sunday morning is open, but you are cordially invited to attend 10:00 a.m. services at Grace Lutheran Church, 830 N. First Avenue, about 4 miles west of the hotel.

At noon, we will meet for our usual picnic in the park at Ramada 31 in Reid Park, just a little over 2 miles from the hotel. Our catered lunch will be by El Molinito Restaurant, a Tucson favorite. Following lunch will be a short business meeting with a decision for the 2012 reunion site. Even though the gathering will then formally end, you are invited to stay in Tucson and enjoy more of its sights and activities.

Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum

For a half-century the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum has enchanted millions of visitors with its exhibits of live animals in astonishingly natural settings, while intriguing and instructing them with fascinating educational programs. At the same time, the Museum has gained worldwide repute in the scientific community as an institution committed to researching and protecting the land, plants, and the animals of the Sonoran Desert region.

The Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum is a world-renowned zoo, natural history museum and botanical garden, all in one place! Exhibits re-create the natural landscape of the Sonoran Desert Region so realistically you find yourself eye-to-eye with mountain lions, prairie dogs, Gila monsters, and more. Within the Museum grounds, you will see more than 300 animal species and 1,200 kinds of plants.

There are almost 2 miles of paths traversing 21 acres of beautiful desert.

The mission of the Arizona-Sonora Desert Museum is to inspire people to live in harmony with the natural world by fostering love, appreciation, and understanding of the Sonoran Desert. Founded in 1952 by William Carr and Arthur Pack, the Desert Museum is a private, nonprofit organization dedicated to the conservation of the Sonoran Desert. Current operations and future growth are funded entirely by admissions, memberships, contributions and grants. It is accredited by the Association of Zoos and Aquariums and is a member of the American Association of Museums.

William J. (Jeff) Steece: 100 Years Too Late

By Frank M Cody

Most youngsters grow up imitating their heroes. It might be an athlete, movie star, rock star, or politician. If you were born in the fifties or sixties, it might be the heroes of the day: Batman, Zorro, Sgt. Joe Friday and the Lone Ranger. For Jeff Steece, it was the western heroes like Hopalong Cassidy, Roy Rogers, Sky King, Marshall Dillon, the Cartwrights and John Wayne. His favorite was not one of the television stars. He was a hero of the Old West and our family name-sake, Buffalo Bill.

To say that William J. (Jeff) Steece was a fan of Buffalo Bill is putting it mildly. He was so enamored with his hero, that he has become one of the top Buffalo Bill impersonators in the country and, most certainly, one of the best east of the Mississippi from his home base in Columbus, Ohio.

Steece, a printer by trade, loved the history and adventure of the Old West. In his mind Buffalo Bill symbolized the American frontier. Ask him what he admired about Bill and the litany begins. At age 11 he worked for a wagon train, age 12 was at the Colorado gold rush, age 14 rode for the Pony Express, served as a Union scout during the Civil War, hunted buffalo for the Kansas Pacific railroad, U.S. Army scout and guide, received the Congressional Medal of Honor for valor in action during the Indian Wars, and the famous Wild West Show. It seems like the recitations could go on for hours.

Along with his love of Bill's historical life, people also began to say he looked like Cody. At age 16, his long hair, mustache, and goatee reinforced this image. Now, in his mid-fifties, he truly resembles our most famous cousin. A few years ago at an Annie Oakley festival, one of Annie's descendants remarked that Steece "Was not quite as tall and a bit more portly, but, he would have made Bill proud." This was high praise, indeed from one who seldom was impressed with historical impersonators. To understand where his uncanny portrayal is today, you have to hear how he perfected it.

While Steece had been dressing in Buffalo Bill attire for some time, his real debut came in 2001 during the making of an independent film about the Old West at the Ohio Historical Village in Columbus. From that beginning, the gigs have been more frequent and the portrayal has become historically accurate.

To perfect the accuracy, Steece turned to Juti Winchester, former curator of the Cody Museum in Cody, WY. Winchester's advice – study the pictures of Bill. To that end, Steece learned that Cody seldom faced the camera straight on. It was always an off-to-the-side look. If you see his poses today, the look is as if you are seeing Bill in person.

It isn't, however, just the look that distinguishes the Steece portrayal. He is also a stickler for wearing authentic outfits that are complete with historically accurate accessories. He either wears Bill's favorite buckskins or his famous frocked coat along with a white shirt and western tie and hat from the era. To complete the ensemble he holsters real Colt revolvers – unloaded, of course, although one imagines he could likely shoot with Buffalo Bill's legendary accuracy.

If there is a downside to being a Bill impersonator, it is the legacy all Cody's have to endure. Our famous ancestor is not Wild Bill. Steece often has to correct that identification. I'm sure he does it with grace and a yearning to present Buffalo Bill's historical relevance.

For Steece, the greatest honor of his life was being made an honorary member of the Ohio Cody Family Circle in 2006. His dream is to one day visit Cody, Wyoming and Lookout Mountain in Denver to visit Bill's grave. Until then he is content to continue portraying our family icon and winning look-a-like contests. He may have been born 100 years too late, but, he is living the dream.

"Cody (Images of America: Wyoming)"

Author: Lynn Johnson Houze

Founded in 1896 by William F. "Buffalo Bill" Cody and members of the Shoshone Land and Irrigation Company, Cody lies 53 miles east of Yellowstone National Park. Situated in a geographical area known as the Big Horn Basin, the town is surrounded by part of the front range of the Absaroka Mountains. The Chicago, Burlington, and Quincy Railroad's arrival in 1901 coincided with the incorporation of Cody as a town. The Irma Hotel, named for Buffalo Bill's youngest daughter, opened in 1902 and provided visitors with a modern, luxurious place to stay. In 1909, Cody became the county seat of the newly formed Park County. Cody and the surrounding areas are known for their superb scenery, excellent hunting and fishing, gas and mineral reserves, and vast ranching lands.

The book traces more than 100 years of Cody history and uncovers details of the town's history overlooked by other publications. Chapters include: Marquette and Buffalo Bill's Dam; Early Beginnings; Outfitters, Guides and Ranches; "Rodeo Capital of the World"; The Maturing Town; Historic Homes and Buildings; Churches and Schools; People and Pastimes. The book features more than 200 vintage photographs, many previously unpublished, from the Buffalo Bill Historical Center, local and state archives and from the American Heritage Center at the University of Wyoming. Additionally, local families have generously allowed her to use images from their collections.

Author Lynn Johnson Houze is a curatorial assistant of the Buffalo Bill Museum at the BBHC. She is a member of the local and state historical societies and several committees concerned with preserving local history. She served on the 1996 Cody Centennial Committee and has co-authored a centennial history of the town
